Answer:

IP authentication is not available for Pharmeuropa online. Please use your username and password. You can use your browser password manager to log in without having to enter your login details, provided that your browser accepts cookies.

Note: if you already have an account on the platform, for example for the Ph. Eur. or the European Paediatric Formulary (PaedForm), you can use the same details to access Pharmeuropa online. Your username is always your e-mail address.

Once you have signed in to one of the websites, you will automatically be signed in to all of the other websites for which you are registered and will not be prompted to re-enter your login details when switching between publications during the same session.
